Mrs. Preston Williams and sister, Miss Evelyn Williams enjoyed a hunt in the Camelback country Sunday.

There seem to be plenty of roads near that place, but they failed to take any that led toward home. So they were just like the "Babes in the Woods."

Their return home was made rather late in the evening.

Last Friday the school closed its third successful month. The half holiday was awarded Miss Ethel Smith's room. Miss Smith is a new teacher and there is none better. She has the largest enrollment as well as the most grades, second, third, and fourth. The enrollment in her room in September was forty-nine, in October was forty-eight, in November was forty-four, and at present is forty-six. She is a conscientious worker and is meeting with excellent success. The names of the pupils who were not absent of tardy during the month of November in Miss Smith's room were: Paul Alkire, Helen Evans, Teddy Goodman, William Goodman, Vada Lou Heard, Ernest Hammons, Neil Hedgpath, Frances Hedgpath, Naomi Krebs, Leola Krebs, Charley Mitchell, May Mitchell, Harry Morrell, Todd Perry, Verne Redman, Vera Ranscher, Mary Schrader, George Stewart, Marvin Teel, Eula Teel, Myron Warren, Harold Wilky, Jimmie Hudkins, Everts McQueen.

In Miss Elizabeth Hedgpath's room: Eugene Hedgpath, Vinton Hudkins, Earl Hudson, Thelma Krebs, Vera Krebs, Walter Perry and Carrie Redman. The enrollment in her room during September was thirty-four, in October was thirty-eight, in November was thirty-seven and is thirty-five now. Miss Hedgpath has had an average attendance of over thirty, and this is splendid, considering they are little ones and the weather has been rainy.

Those not absent in Miss Hickman's room were: Emma Bates, Ernestine Bergen, Eva Belle Huston, Marguerite Krebs, Hennes Bates, Kenneth Evans, Edwin Francis, Hubbard Puga, Roma Mitchell, Russell Rhoades, Harold Tannehill, Howard Tannehill, Louis Wilky, Wilson Woods. Her enrollment in September was twenty-one, in October and November was twenty-seven, and at present is twenty-five. Miss Hickman is fortunate in having a small enrollment and at the same time a majority of the brightest and most energetic pupils in the whole school.

Miss Nelly Murphy, the principal, is bearing the burden. Besides having a very large enrollment she is struggling with an unprepared eighth grade of twenty pupils. Her enrollment was forty-two in September and October, and forty-one since that time with an average of thirty-nine. The regular attendants were: Susie Bates, Kenneth Comstock, David Creighton, Lee Down, Keith Evans, Ruth Evans, Louis Frederick, Granville Puga, Eugenia Glascock, Wallace Gregg, Nute Hammons, Nancy Lee Heard, Grover Huston, Esther Lowdermilk, Ruth Lowdermilk, Callie Moore, Lillie Morrell, Bally Phillips, Ralph Phillips, Helen Redman, Edna Schrader, Verne Smith, Fern Tannehill, Russell Tannehill, Frank Teel, Ethel Woolf, Beulah Hamilton, and Laura Swiggett.

The total enrollment last month was 149 and the daily attendance was 122. The new pupils enrolled during the month were Fairth Scull, Frank Wirtman, Ethel Lawton and Ella Lawton. Those moved elsewhere were: Horace Van Kirk, Emory Van Kirk, Mary Downing, Samuel Hutchison, Mamie Hutchison, Cuca Perez, Henry Perez and Ethel Arndt.

Miss Murphy is being ably assisted by the other teachers in preparing a program for Christmas, and as these entertainments have always been a success and the whole neighborhood turned out in a body to witness them, this one will not be an exception to the rule.

While the attendance has been good it might have been better, and every parent should be interested in the school to the extent of keeping the children there every day. No teacher can teach the children if they are kept at home half the time. Let every child come every day of the week and our school will be on the boom.

The stork visited the home of P. H. Hayes last Monday evening and left a nice little baby girl. This is the first little one in the family and Santa Claus should be notified of the event.

Miss Elizabeth Hedgpath and Louise Beecher attended the Powell concert Friday night at the Arizona School of Music.

Harry Kay is having his whole 160 acre farm plowed.

Mrs. C. B. Williams drove to Phoenix Wednesday.

Tom Bowls is moving into his new home on North Center St. Mr. Dowling and family who have occupied it for several years have moved to the little cottage on the car line just east of Mr. Greer's home.

Some good baled alfalfa hay has been hauled to town this week. It belonged to Mr. Horton.

Roger Deering has sold his brick residence on North Center St. A sale of the furniture will take place at Hammond's Auction rooms Thursday Dec. 17.

Miss Camp made a trip to Phoenix Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Friedel drove to the Indian school Thursday morning.

J. C. Adams and Ralph Quinn had a sale of fine horses at the fair grounds Thursday afternoon. The crowd was small considering the nature of the sale. Every lover of well bred horses should have attended and gotten a glimpse of these beautiful animals. Creme de Mint was purchased by Frank Cavalliere and the famous Boy Della was secured by Black and Van Kirk of the Metropolitan stables. Some of the other purchasers were P. A. Tharlson, Justus Goebel, Mr. Davidson.

Independence, spent Wednesday night with Smith Chittick and family. They were guests at the Swartz-Wilky wedding.

J. R. Cartwright is spending a few days the guest of his daughter Mrs. Geo. Wilky.

B. M. Fugua and wife sold eighty acres north of the Grand canal to Charles H. Dinsmore.

Mr. Harmon loaded three or four cars of alfalfa hay Thursday which were shipped that evening.

Mrs. Asa Graham went to town Thursday.

Of What Does a Business Education Consist?

Of all the branches necessary in carrying on the business of the world.

ARITHMETIC, Rapid Calculations, Fractions, Decimals, Trade Discounts, Interest and Commission.

PENMANSHIP, thorough drills that produce rapid, legible writing, just the kind that every one likes to see.

BOOKKEEPING. There is no branch better for discipline of the mind and best of all, every one has some use for a knowledge of accounts from the man who cleans ditches to the president.

The value of COMMERCIAL LAW, LETTER WRITING, CIVIL GOVERNMENT, SPELLING and GRAMMAR need not be emphasized. If to these the student adds Shorthand and Typewriting he will always find employment at satisfactory wages. The demand for young men and women who have a practical working knowledge of the business branches, Shorthand and Typewriting always exceeds the supply.
